

Spotlight on

Germany

 1,811,270 animals used in research, testing and education

80%

I am very concerned about the use of animals in scientific research, testing, and education.

81%

More needs to be done to accelerate the full replacement of animal experiments.

84%

The European Commission and its Member States should develop a coordinated strategy to transition to scientific research, testing, and education without the use of animals.

79%

The European Union should be a global leader in moving towards science and innovation without the use of animals.